INTRODUCTION

In 21st century learners prefer to use virtual dictionaries and material to practice the target language. It is a fact that successful learning not only based on effective strategy, but also it also depends on language resources. Obviously, language learners should know what kind of language learner they are, finding appropriate sources, tools, methods become much more straightforward and will skyrocket their success. In this thesis, some useful sites, websites will be discussed.

MATERIALS AND METHODS

There are many ways to learn any foreign language, however it is most important point is choosing appropriate sites, books, resources which can help to alleviate learning process. A huge target is pointing out which sources are suitable to learn and utilize effectively.

Before learning language crucial aspect is a trusted tool which is amazing, experienced during the period time by learners. In order to decide the resources that are going to be utilized, it is necessary to search among students' interests' regarding how much they use technological tools and about their language proficiency intending to create valid activities for learners. Learning, speaking new language like English, Afrikaans, French, Arabic, Norwegian can cause to more difficulty spending time for learning process, however there are some ways to pick up language without depression and stress. Here are the most excellent language learning tools and apps which can give fun during the learning. First one is Mondly which covers friendly interface and variety of interactive lessons. One of the best features of Mondly app is opportunity to use from reader's native language; moreover its sphere consists of various languages such as Polish, Indonesian, Tagalog, Thai, English, Spanish, French, and German.

Another one is LearnLanguage.com which is useful with 19 different languages. Any kind of learner can learn over 1400 words by heart through their vocabulary list, verb conjugation charts and there is a considerable amount more frees learning to be done in the 9 languages in which Learnalanguage.com maintains its own Web-based courses.

If language learner is going to learn a specific language like German, there are some advices to use. They are Deutch-lernen.com which begins with 10 beginner lessons and 24 advanced grammar lessons. This free resource is a great starting point for beginner level and those intimidated by the infamously frustrating German grammar. An addition to this, Deutsch Akademie which has helpful audio clips and interactive lessons, as well as link to in-person courses in Berlin and another part of Central Europe. Third one is Deutsche Welle that offers courses from beginner to advance.

Moreover, there are websites with video-based learning content illustrates that switching on the TV is effective for language learning. If learner wants to soak up the sights and sounds what actual everyday speech sounds like and how it is in their target language, tune in and kick back for some quality input-based learning with sites, for instance Streema that offers TV streaming from over 100 countries around the world in nearly as many languages. Additionally, FluentU is a totally different world of language learning. After entering this site, learner can grasp at least free trial and spend a couple of week's bingle- learning with various video and audio libraries.

RESULTS

Nowadays mostly students are trying to learn ESOL, nonetheless they are not aware of ESOL Courses which is time saving, all lessons are available online. There is no registration, therefore lessons are free and they cover a range of areas as well as levels. Obviously, they are more useful and effective lessons than offline courses. Hence, another website English at Home offers spoken English, vocabulary and grammar. There are lessons available; however most of activities are basic "choose correct answer" which is useful during the self-study. Clearly, there some websites and applications can give opportunity write a blog post for learners of any language who wishes to study in DuoLingo without any payment. Actually, it is a quite effective site because even a South Korean student can access DuoLingo and learn English with ease of using his or her first language.
